Introduction

This report presents the results of the Oporto Women’s Centre – P’RA TI, concerning the period from the 1\textsuperscript{st} February of 2009 to the 30\textsuperscript{th} June 2010, and the achievements due to the grant of the Body Shop Foundation. For this period, UMAR established three main objectives for the Oporto Women’s Centre: i) to create a space that assures a specialized support, follow up and the specialist referrals of women victims of violence in order in order to protect their autonomy; 2) to accomplish this with the cooperation of a multidisciplinary team (professionals from the areas of law, psychology and social work); 3) to establish a network of partnership with others services and organizations to achieve a more effective long term support to women to assure an autonomous and non-violent personal, familiar and professional life project.

These objectives were achieved and this report will describe what was done in conformity. Nevertheless, the aim of the Oporto Women’s Centre is to contribute to eradicate gender violence and this will continue to mobilize the energy and efforts of the team of Oporto Women’s Centre P’RA TI.

From the 31\textsuperscript{st} December 2007, the Centre had no funding support, working with volunteer staff and negotiating with Portuguese government funding for a professional and integrated support and accompaniment of women victims of domestic and gender violence.

\footnote{PRATI – Project for Autonomy, Work and Social Integration (Projecto Autonomia, Trabalho e Inserção).}
The protocol for government funding (designed Agreement on Cooperation between Social Security and UMAR) was signed in February 1, 2009. The staff selection was completed to the 1st April 2009, and from this date to the end of June, the team staff have received training in the CIG\(^2\) and UMAR and began the promotion and divulgation of the Centre. The formal reopening of the P’RA TI- Oporto Women’s Centre took place on June 26th, 2009.

In this report, it is presented the main achievements in 2009 and the results of the first semester of 2010.

Setting the Oporto Women’s Centre – P’RA TI, reorganizing the team

The priorities of the work in 2009 were setting the Centre, because UMAR has moved from Formosa Street and it was necessary to make the PRATI – Oporto Women’s Centre in good conditions to work with women victims of gender and domestic violence.

Several structural arrangements and works took place, with the contribution of the grant of Body Shop Foundation, which made possible the acquisition of furniture and office material to give good conditions to the work in the Centre. Please, see attachment 5, with the photos in power point and Attachment 4 with the detailed financial execution concerning the grant of Body Shop Foundation.

Then, we proceed in the selection of the staff, followed by training sessions to be well prepared to work with the victims. Some new members of the team felt they were young and with a few experience in attending and supporting women victims and, nevertheless, annual training and supervising is part of UMAR’s philosophy in working in gender and domestic violence.

Then, parallel to the intervention in supporting and accompanying the women, attention was put on remaking partnerships to build a social and institutional network in supporting women’s victims of domestic and gender violence.

Most of the partnership protocols were set according that the partner institution or organization will inform women and eventual victims about Oporto Women’s Centre and UMAR will be available to participate in lectures, awareness campaigns or other actions in favour to the rights of women led by the institution / organization. In 2009, several

A special partnership protocol was established with CPCJ- Portuguese Committee for the Protection of Children and Youngsters (Comissões de Protecção de Crianças e Jovens): besides the agreement of informing women about the Centre from the part of the CPCJ, and the availability to participate in seminars or lectures about women’s rights, CPCJ and UMAR set a procedure protocol to act in an articulated way with the women victims (UMAR) and their children and adolescents at risk (CPCJ). Also, CPCJ asked UMAR to train the staff members of CPCJ on gender and domestic violence issues.

Partnership protocols with health institutions from Oporto were also established, specifically for reducing costs for the victims who need to be attended.

Also with the Civil Government of Oporto it is set a protocol to receive some funding and to have permission to organize awareness activities in public space.

To assure a scientific training of psychologists (the volunteer psychologists working in centre) it was set a protocol with ISMAI⁴.

During 2009, in parallel with the work to create the space and to form the multidisciplinary team, new 53 women victims of violence made use of P’RA TI, with 62 sons and daughters dependents, totalizing 115 persons, conducted nearly 300 personal meetings and 200 telephone calls.

Finally, 4 users asked for vocational guidance and with them the team did 11 vocational consultations.

Furthermore, the team participated in several actions related with training and awareness activities, requested by other institutions and associations and also organized by other teams of UMAR, such as: Catholic University of Oporto, to lecture in the Master degree of Community Health; Red Cross of VN Gaia; training workshop and

In General Consultations and accompaniment we include the movements with the users for collecting belongings, complaint, query in the IML, going to the courts, health services, collect or lead the users to emergency shelters, accompany the transport or take them to places, when they are integrated into a Shelter or going home of relatives or friends.

Some of the general consultations are conducted outside de Centre, given the impossibility users’ dislocation to P´RA TI.

Women’s Participation in P’RA TI

During 2010, there took place some performances which were prepared with some users of the Oporto Women’s Centre and some volunteers. They participate in activities of promoting the P’RA TI, sharing their own reflections and ideas (photos of some of the performances can be seen in the bog of the P’RA TI).

For the external evaluation of the Oporto Women’s Centre, there is a research team of the Faculty of Psychology and Sciences of Education who have conducted non-directive in-depth interviews to the staff and to six women supported by the Centre. The data analysis is done by the external evaluation team and will be completed in the end of the current year.

Also, women respond to the questionnaire about their in/satisfaction about the services but it is still in course, and data will be analysed and presented in the end of the current year, in the annual report.

Nevertheless, we can already show some quotations of oral testimonies by some women:

“I, Maria⁶, since the first day I arrived here, I was very well received; besides that, Dr. X treats me very well, I come here very much depressed and I go out with more joy and hope, she is very thoughtful”

One woman who had to go to a shelter stressed that:

“I thought that being in a shelter was almost like being in a prison, and it is true we can take our friends to the shelter, there are many rules to follow, but the first night I slept in the shelter was the first night I and my three daughters could sleep in peace for more than eight years!” (Fátima)

Another woman write her feedback to the Centre:

“I have to say that I’m very glad with UMAR, because it helps me either psychologically or with things I need. I have a good social worker, a very gentle one, who is with me in everything I need. I’m very well with UMAR. Thank you for everything”. (Celeste)

New partnerships for the social network

In 2010, the team pursued the work to set partnerships with institutions and organizations to improve the quality of the social answers to the women victims. In this respect, it were established protocols with the Parish Councils of: Cedofeita, Ramalde, Paranhos, Nevogilde, Rio Tinto. As well as, with the Municipal Councils of: Maia, Paredes. Other partnership protocols were also established with Governmental entities as IDT – The Portuguese Institution for Drug Addicted, and INEM – the Medical Emergency Institute, with public institutions as University of Porto, with the Psychological Service, as well as non-governmental organizations as ATLAS, an association that supports immigrants and foreigners.

The protocol with CPCJ were extended to other services.

Like in 2009, P’RA TI participated in several lectures and seminars and gave training to people when requested by other institutions or associations (see a more detailed description in Attachment 3 Grid of Implementation 2010).

During the first semester of 2010, it also increased the requests from schools to go and lecture about gender and domestic violence.

P’RA TI was also able to create a group of volunteers who are working in a regularly basis, according to their free time, and this helps to achieve the goal of empowering the women.

Final remarks
It can be said the achievements exceeded the expectations. The objectives established for this period were achieved and for that the grant of Body Shop Foundation was crucial.

Nevertheless, the next targets to be met are to empower women and to improve their participation as subjects of their own destiny. We have to go beyond the help we can give but also creating conditions for women get strong enough to pursue and achieve their own dreams.

To achieve the main target of the P’RA TI – Oporto Women’s Centre of UMAR - that is the autonomy and liberation of women’s prior victims of violence - we need to continue to develop the strategies of the different modalities of inclusivity and creativity that can allow women to express themselves (ourselves) and be aware of the traps of sexism and patriarchal society to not fall down again in violent relationships.
